Doorn Is Now Called
Branch Office of Potsdam

[By Associated Press.]
Doorn, Holland.—The constantly growing German colony here, where former Emperor William resides, is causing uneasiness among the inhabitants, for a great number of the members of the German aristocracy are buying up old Dutch manors, and Doorn is already called in the Dutch satirical papers "A branch office of Potsdam." Some weeks ago William ordered Margarita Kogor, a German artist living in Doorn, to paint scenes in the park and his residence.

Tree Seeds Sent Abroad as Christmas Gifts

Washington, Dec. 23.—A Christmas gift of twelve million tree seeds, to be used in reforesting the war devastated areas of France and Belgium, was shipped to those countries today through their embassies here by the American Forestry association. The seeds were of the Douglas fir, a species which grows rapidly.

SNOWFALL FAILS TO BLOCKADE ANY COUNTY HIGHWAYS

Snow during the last 24 hours has not been sufficient to cause any serious trouble in travel on the county highway system. In event there is additional snow the Chamber of Commerce, in connection with the city, is interested in snow removal, will at once take steps to clear three main highways from Janesville to Beloit, Edgemoor and Watrous.
The equipment is practically ready.
It was announced this morning at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, that the city engineer, Edward G. Murphy, will push the work.

The snow is so light on the country roads that there is no indication of drifting or drifts in wind-swept spots and road depressions.
Weather predictions clearly indicate, however, that southern Wisconsin will have the promised
"white" Christmas.

POSTOFFICE FORCE SWAMPED WITH WORK

Two more clerks were added to the holiday force at the Janesville postoffice today to assist in sorting the Christmas cards which have been coming in by the thousands. The clerks are Howard Gage and Paul Loranger.
The rush of the parcels coming in to Janesville continues to grow and is keeping the three trucks, horse and wagon and a large corps of men busy distributing the Christmas presents. Rural mail carriers went out in their cars loaded down with bundles.
The postoffice will be open for business Christmas morning from 8 to 10 o'clock for general delivery, and the men and clerks in sorting the Christmas cards will be busy all day taking care of the deluge of Christmas packages. Last year the carriers, making 100,000 more in 1919, worked until 4 o'clock in the afternoon distributing the mail.

WOOD BANQUET MAY BE AT LATER DATE

Information was received today by L. O. Holman, secretary of the Janesville Chamber of Commerce, from General Leonard Wood, that the date of the banquet planned here might have to be scheduled at a later date, than January 10. The letter from the general advised that there will be a general staff meeting of the U. S.
army in Washington early in January, which necessitates General Wood being in Washington shortly after January 1.
The length of this staff meeting will determine whether General Wood will be able to be in Janesville on the date planned. Arrangements are being completed for the banquet program, with the date being left open as a matter of conjecture.

HALF OF PEAS ARE PACKED IN WISCONSIN

Madison.—Wisconsin packed one out of every two cans of peas this year, according to R. E. Vaughan of the college of agriculture. This year ord was made, he says, despite wet weather in late spring and a comparatively dry summer. This state packed 5,804,000 cases of peas, the largest in her history. And almost 3,500,000 cases more than New York, her nearest competitor, Mr. Vaughan said. There were 57 factories running to pack the produce of 67,000 acres. It was pointed out that the northern part of the state was demonstrating its adaptation to the pea growing industry. While climate conditions are not of the best, it has been found that varieties of peas can be grown successfully.

Militia Organization Gets Ahead of Schedule

Madison.—Organization of new companies of militia continues in Wisconsin at a rate pointing to completion of the state quota far ahead of the allotted time of five years, according to the adjutant general's office. One company of infantry was mustered in during the past week, while arrangements were made for a company of infantry at Prairie du Chien. The company of infantry recruited at Baraboo to be mustered in at Baraboo, it was said. A troop of cavalry was mustered in at Virgiana, while arrangements to be made for organization of two companies from the one now recruited from Gillett and Wabeno.

Community Christmas Programs Are Popular

Madison.—The number of Wisconsin communities holding community Christmas programs was up this year over before, according to E. D.
Gordon, chief of the university bureau of community development. Requests for suggestions and programs received daily at the bureau, he says.

this year, 54,000,000 more than in 1919,
and 5,600,000 more than in 1918.
In excess of last year's crop, says the report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, made public today.

HOSPITAL FINDS BOOKS HELP TO CURE PATIENTS

Sioux City, Ia.—Sioux City's hospital library service has proven that books may be truly said to possess healing qualities. Physicians state that books have proven to be a factor in restoring the health of patients.
Sioux City is the pioneer in this service, which has received the recognition of the greatest hospitals and public libraries in the country.
Twice a week the little library truck, that is constructed after the same plan as the modern ten wagon, visit the room of each patient able to read in each of the six hospitals in the city. The work is under the supervision of a trained librarian. Hospital librarians that know a patient's reading wants almost better than he does himself are the welcomed visitors on library days. With true statesmanship, they demonstrate their wares, "feel" the situation and make suggestions that fit the "psychological moment."
The patient's interest in something outside himself is aroused. The librarian's visit is a diversion; the book or magazine selected is a subject of interest after the librarian leaves, and then the nurse comes in and finds her patient satisfied and happy. The result is a more rapid recovery.

WISCONSIN LEADS IN SANITATION OF LIVESTOCK

Madison.—Wisconsin leads all other states in livestock sanitation, according to C. J. Nord, commissioner of agriculture who attended the national association of Livestock Sanitary Officials at its meeting in Chicago last week. It was said that dairy cattle and general livestock of this state were more free from tuberculosis and like diseases, than those of any other state.

Commissioner Nord presented the tuberculosis eradication program of the Livestock Sanitary division of the State Department of Agriculture to the breeders and livestock officials of every state in the union in Chicago.

Northern Wisconsin has less than 1 per cent of tuberculosis among its cattle, he said. The 70,000 head tested in Barron county, he said, and likewise those of Iron county and Washington island would indicate that disease was practically eradicated. This condition was said to have followed application of the area test method of ridding the state of bovine tuberculosis.

The legislature will be asked to authorize and support the work of the department in its program of eradication, it was brought out. Practically all of the 1,000,000 head of cattle in the state have been tested, Mr. Nord said, and it is expected that funds for further work will be granted. Within the next four years, it was said that Northern Wisconsin may be entirely freed from bovine disease and stand as the only clean cattle area of its size in the country.

The accredited herd policy started in Wisconsin six years ago and now numbers over 450 herds, with 11,000 having passed one test and 11,700 herds under supervision, Mr. Nord said. The area test and the accredited herd policy together with the testing by creamery and cheese factory districts, pasteurization of incoming and outgoing products, creameries and cheese factories and indemnity payments on herd tests whose owners agreed to keep them clean, are said to be factors that place Wisconsin's tuberculosis eradication program to the front. A great many more cattle are said to have been tested by the cattle owners themselves.

The most encouraging factor in the situation, Professor Nord said, is the spirit of cooperation on the part of breeders and cattle owners who realize that it is in their interest that disease be cleaned out of the industry.

BROKEN WIRE PUTS HOMES IN DARKNESS

Only a few residents in the first ward were fortunate enough to have electric lights last night. The primary wire of the Jansville Electric company was blown down by the storm at 8 o'clock last night cutting off the power to the houses of most of the residents. The trouble was not repaired until daylight today and those who did not have gas or other means of illumination were left in the dark for the night.

COUNTY AGENTS VALUE SHOWN IN STATE ITEM

Importance of the county agricultural agents' work is indicated by the state report by J. F. Wirtz, state leader, which was received here today.

The 46 agents in Wisconsin spent 745 days in the field during the past month. The agents were in charge of 255 farm meetings, attended by 20,000 people. There were 8,064 calls made by agents who visited 2,150 farms. Demonstrations were held in three counties.

Elks' Bowling Tourney Starts in Toledo, Feb. 12

Toledo, O., Dec. 23.—The Elks' national tournament for 1921 will be held in Toledo beginning on Feb. 12. It was announced today by officials of the American bowling congress here. One hundred teams from all parts of the country will take part. An effort is being made to bring a number of New York bowlers here for the event. Fifteen or twenty teams will go from Toledo to the American bowling congress tournament at Buffalo next spring. Toledo is a bidder for the 1922 meet.

1,500 Men Out of Work When Plate Glass Co. Closes

Toledo, O., Dec. 23.—More than 1,500 men were thrown out of work until February 1 when the Edward Ford Plate Glass company plant at Toledo closed down. The plant is said to have no contemplated reduction in wages when operations are resumed. The reason given for the shut-down for a "readjustment of financial affairs."

The latter three came to the rescue of Gursky and his father were arrested.

WARNING ISSUED ON CHRISTMAS CANDLES

Cornelius J. Murphy, chief of the fire department, today issued a warning to Jansville against the so-called "Christ candle" movement, which originated in Rochester, and has found support in many sections of the country.

The plan of the movement was to have a candle placed in the front window of residences on Christmas night. It is said, and is based on the old tradition that "a lighted candle set in the window on Christmas eve will guide the Babe of Bethlehem to your home and bring it happiness."

The chief points out that the ceremony involves a great fire risk and urges all in the city to avoid it. The close proximity of curtains of light material near a lighted candle is a risk that should not be taken, he asserts.

He points out that many fires may be prevented if this is done.

Chief Murphy also added his annual warning against the use of lighted candles on trees when children are left alone, and the use of cotton whiskers for imitation Santa Claus persons.

NAVIGATION REVIVED ON OHIO RIVER

Louisville, Ky.—Two tow boats lashed to barges carrying more than 10,000 tons of steel bound from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, are afloat on America's mightiest inland waterways—the Ohio and Mississippi rivers—indicating to a degree, rivermen say, the greatest revival of river traffic since 1897.

Curiously enough, one of the reasons given for it is that it is a time saver, notwithstanding the greater distance than by rail. Favorable differences in freight rates and shortage of railroad cars also enter into the situation, while completion of locks and dams are expected to give the traffic greater assurance of stability and more ease of operation.

Construction of river terminals at important cities with modern machinery for handling freight, already contemplated at Louisville and at Memphis, is expected to contribute to the revival and become a cornerstone in the foundation for its permanent future.

News of upper Ohio river improvement, brought to Louisville by John P. Klein of Pittsburgh, veteran riverman and owner of a fleet of tow boats and barges, indicates the first 22 locks in the down river stretch from Pittsburgh have been completed. The twenty-third will be finished next year, the twenty-fourth is even now receiving finishing touches, and the twenty-fifth will require but a few weeks to complete. The twenty-sixth to the thirty-third between Cincinnati and Memphis, Ky., already are in operation. Below Louisville, similar government river work is being constructed.

Mr. Klein came to Louisville to meet one of his towboats. "In my 31 years of experience on the river," he said, "I have never seen such a boom as we are enjoying today. The Pittsburgh harbor is almost as busy as it was in the old days before the railroads took our business. Coal companies are buying steel barges as fast as they can be constructed."

A SWEETHEART AT THIRTY

The Story of a Woman's Transformation
BY MARION RUBINCAM

CHAPTER XXVIII. MORE TIMID ADVENTURES

That afternoon we unpacked and hung up or put away as many of our things as were in the various bundles with us. Then having nothing to do, we decided to leave the ugly room and wander out.

"We'll see the city," Violet remarked.

"Suppose we get lost?" I was in sudden terror. For the city seemed limitless.

"We won't," Violet assured me soothingly. Suddenly she assumed the grown-up protective air. I was the old aunt who feared to go about in strange places.

"It we do," she said, "we'll ask. You remember how kind that woman was, that directed us up here. You know," she took on a new tone, as though the idea had just occurred to her, "I don't believe the city is a great terrible dragon, ready to devour every weak little person that comes to it. I believe it's just as kind as Henry Falls and as obliging. Only it has much more to talk about."

It was the first of Violet's philosophy about the city. She had a keen insight, which developed as she went along. I rarely found her judgment wrong.

Our first walk was a bit timid. Though we carefully went down the names of the streets as we passed them, and when we had walked an hour, we came back over the same streets, following the list we had made. It was late afternoon when we got in again. Some of the other people who roomed in the house were sitting on the steps leading from the front door to the pavement, long flight of steps, for this place had been built in the day when New York and Brooklyn were divided with rail "divisions" from the city looked at us frankly and curiously as we passed, and one girl, who seemed to me to look very smart, turned her head aside and laughed in her handkerchief.

We went to the inside steps, passing our handbag.

"Say Ma Tupper, who are the rubes you've put in?" we heard the girl ask.

"Yeah, where did you get the rubes?" a man's voice chimed in.

Violet turned to me in our room, white faced.

"Do we look as bad as that, Aunt Enid?" she asked.

"Don't mind them, they were just rude people," I tried to make my own voice casual, so she wouldn't think I minded.

"I don't mind them," Violet answered calmly. Of course, we promptly refused, but we can't prevent people from thinking. And if they think we rubes and Nicks, we must look like it.

"I went over to the glass, studying myself carefully."

"I thought my suit was very stylish," she said. "But it must look funny beside that girl's. I felt so funny, passing those strange people."

"I didn't dare look. But I will next time, and see what the difference is."

And that became the keynote of our whole point of view in the city. What we did not know, and the details we found, were amazing.

However, that afternoon, or rather early that evening, we were brought to the trunk and had our first real rest. He brought an evening paper, and I managed, by sitting off at one side, and reading this, to leave the two of them alone much more as possible. The paper itself was a revelation and a delight to me. I rarely saw the country journal that Jim subscribed for.

"Look at this, Vi," I said, after a time. I passed the paper to her. It was a little world, condensed into print. It told of a marriage of a multi-millionaire's daughter. It described how a woman had killed her husband in the slums because her husband left her. It told how $300,000 worth of jewels had been stolen from a wealthy yachtman's wife, and it had an article on how a family of six could live on $25 a week.

It gave columns to a tangle in international politics. It had a story written by a man who flew an airplane from San Francisco to St. Louis to deliver a love letter from his friend's fiancée who was in a hospital. It had in it war, diplomacy, the past, the future, the ever wonderful and amazing present; it had all life from the social events of the wealthy to the police record of the crimes of the poor. It told of a boy of nine who had passed all his college entrance examinations, and a record of a man arrested as a murderer, whose mind had never developed beyond the age of 12.

"I never knew there was so much in life," I said.

"Oh, wait till you see it all happen with your eyes," Bud laughed.

"And the money—everyone seems to have it," I went on.

"Money," he said, with a little contempt, looking at the story of the $300,000 theft. "Money's just a lot of much beans when you see a lot of it. Why I've carried $300,000 with me many a day."

We looked our surprise.

"In a leather case, strapped to my waist," he explained. "Bonds and securities from my firm to other firms or to banks and trust companies."

"I'm afraid for you to go about with so much money," Vi said, sudden terror in her eyes. Suppose something should happen to it."

"To-morrow—letters from home."

Smart Warm Wraps for Afternoon and Street Wear This Midwinter

By ELOISE.

Among the coats which are selling now are many daytime and street coats especially recommended to the "one-coat" woman, the woman who needs a coat simple enough for day wear, yet handsome enough for theatre, concert, and evening wear. Such are the wrappy models, elaborated frequently with hand-colored and invariably lavishly colored with beautiful furs. The furs most used are wolf, Hudson seal, Scotch mole, Australian opossum, natural squirrel and tame fox.

Here are three smart wraps which are being shown in a fashionable shop for midwinter wear. At either side is a simple doberman, rather modified, to be sure, suitable for afternoon or street wear. Both show fur collars. The one at the left is made of Comedian red velvet trimmed with heavy fringe of the same material. A bit of the fringe trims the sleeves and a large chevron collar of beaver is the finishing touch.

The coat at the right uses embroidery in addition to the fur collar for trimming. It is made of black velvet embroidered in gray and collared in kolinsky. It is true to the doberman lines that the other wrap and therefore a bit more dressy.

The costume in the center strikes the unusual note. There have been few extreme fashions this season, but here is one which may take its place as the lead. It is a style for afternoon wear, surely, but is in reality a coat of velvet with wide moire ribbon simulating skirt and forming a giraffe. A huge collar of squirrel and cuffs give a final touch of luxuriousness.

The ceremony may be held either at the church or at your home, and should be at some convenient hour when baby is apt to be agreeable. You may invite intimate friends and should include all the baby's relatives among your guests. It is customary to send the clergyman a small fee unless he is a relative or a dear friend, and those invited to the ceremony may send gifts to the baby or flowers to the mother if they like. After the christening refreshments are usually served. Old and intimate friends or favorite relatives are usually asked to sponsor the child as godfather and godmother.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the questions.

—The Editor.

Imperative.

"I understand that women will wear longer dresses this winter."

"They will have to," replied Miss Gwynne. "In some extreme instances it is that or nothing."—Washington Star.

"Only a few people make good in an emergency."

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE.

An English Custom

"Dear Miss Page—I saw a woman eating an egg right out of the shell the other day in a restaurant. Isn't that incorrect?"—A Keen Observer.

Not at all. It is an English custom which is often followed in this country. Of course it necessitates a special cup; they come in silver, glass and china. The top of the egg should be cut off with one sharp stroke of the knife, the butter and seasoning added. Try it; somehow the egg really seems to taste quite different.

For the Christening

"Dear Miss Page—How should I prepare for my baby to be christened?"—Mrs. N.

I am not sure just what preparations you mean. You arrange with the pastor of your church for the ceremony, which differs considerably, I believe, in different religions.

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are girls at the age of fifteen and have been asked to take out evenings and we refused. Do you think they should get angry? If they should, we should accept the invitation once?

Would it be all right for us to let them bring some one from home once in a while, or are we too young?

You are too young to go with boys. Do not worry about their going angry; they ought to realize that you are too young to accept their invitations.

When you return from parties at night your father ought to call for you.

If your parents do not object, it would be all right to let the boys come to your house occasionally in the afternoon or early evening. You could have jolly times together playing games or reading.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I broke my engagement with a young man last spring. We became engaged before he went to the front and returned. The H. C. L. however, forced us to wait until he could get overseas. He had been home from the army almost a year and we planned to be married this fall, when something happened to make me dislike him. I cannot tell you just what it was, but to me it was a mountain instead of a mole hill.

I have stood going with other boys, but simply cannot enjoy myself or be one bit interested in them. As I still love my sweetheart, I realize now how foolish I was to act on a sudden impulse and break my engagement. He talked to me and tried to make me reconsider, but at that time I thought I could never love him again or go on and marry as we had planned.

A friend of his told me that he still loves me and wants to make up, but he is just like I am, he is too proud and independent to be the first one to give in. We are both twenty-five and he has been exceedingly successful in business and could provide the little home we planned together so long ago.

You can see it is only our stubbornness that keeps us apart. But I feel that you will advise me to let him be the first to come and that he will really come if he loves me. But I was the one who broke the engagement and he tried to reason with me at the time. Isn't it therefore my place to make amends and ask his forgiveness? I have always been exceedingly independent with my boy friends and now it is hard for my love to overcome my pride.

Please tell me what to do as I am broken-hearted and do so much.

want to make up. He never goes with other girls and since I know he still loves me I think it is a crime for us to ruin our happiness all of our lives just by pride.

HEART-BROKEN

I think you have reasoned out your problem. Since the young man reasoned with you and failed to convince you, he probably feels that it is hopeless for him to say anything more. When you write, tell him that you would like to see him again, but do not mention renewing the engagement. Make your letter brief.

If he does not come back and you feel that your letter was a mistake try not to grieve when you do, but the outcome is not what you hoped for, put the incident out of your mind.

But not a bit of it. Drake's cunning hand had deprived me of this slight pleasure for at eight bells we saw being hoisted aloft the two smaller bullet-proof cases which I had observed the day before, and which were no more than impermeable elevators to relieve the watch. Right atop of the others they were hoisted by the topmast halliards, and though I blazed away at them repeatedly nothing seemed to come of it. The larger case dropped down into the larger box through the open bottom of the lift which dropped slightly inside the larger one. It was certainly at least a contrivance of some kind, and knowing that its impervious qualities must have been already well tested (for we had heard several shots from the schooner), I decided to hit it with a couple of my own. I took aim, and fired. The shot went through. Besides, each shot of mine was fired at some risk and brought a volley.

I must admit I was nearly in despair. There was no telling how long we might be kept there in that close captivity. The humidity of it was the hottest I had ever known. I had been able to fight back, having the excitement of defending ourselves and protecting our property. But as the case stood our position was ignominious beyond all endurance. And we had been so cocky about it the day before! I sat down on a ledge and buried my face in my hands, trying to think up some counter move. There were plenty of them, all along the face of the cliff and it was possible that some one of these might be better adapted for defense. But I doubted that any of them had water as I would have noticed the wet stains on the cliff. Besides, there was only one way down and I thought it probable that Drake would keep the foot of the cliff patrolled at night. It would not do to expose himself to such a risk, especially as we had to make a number of trips to transport our stores. Also there would be the difficulty of locating a suitable place in the dark. I explained this to Enid and she agreed with me that the plan was not feasible.

"Why don't you go out for having got us into such a mess, Jack?" she asked.

"You did what you thought was for the best," I answered. "I was pleased as punch with the state of affairs until they served us this one. Well, it looks as if we'd just have to make the best of it. I'll make a number of trips to transport our stores. Also there would be the difficulty of locating a suitable place in the dark. I explained this to Enid and she agreed with me that the plan was not feasible."

CHRISTMAS MOON TO BE LARGE ONE

An event that occurs but once in a lifetime on Christmas day, will be observable here December 25 this year, according to astronomers.

On Christmas evening the moon will appear larger than usual. It will be in perigee at the same time it is in full moon.

The moon moves in a pathway that describes an ellipse. Since the earth's movement is not centered exactly to that ellipse, there is a certain point on the pathway that comes nearest to the earth. This is called the perigee. The moon is then only 221,000 miles away. At its farthest point it is 253,000 miles.

Once in slightly more than two years a full moon occurs at the same time as does the perigee. But only once in a lifetime does this occur on Christmas.

If the sky is clear on Christmas, Janesville may see phenomena. If one could maneuver so as to get a house 24 feet in diameter on a hilltop one half mile away, between him and the moon, he would see the moon shining all around that house. That is, the house will be too small to hide the moon.

When the moon is smallest, a house of only twenty-one feet will do the same thing.

Christmas will be a time of abnormally high tides on the Atlantic coast on account of the heavy pull of a close up moon.

Bowery Mission Adopts

Poor Children of Europe

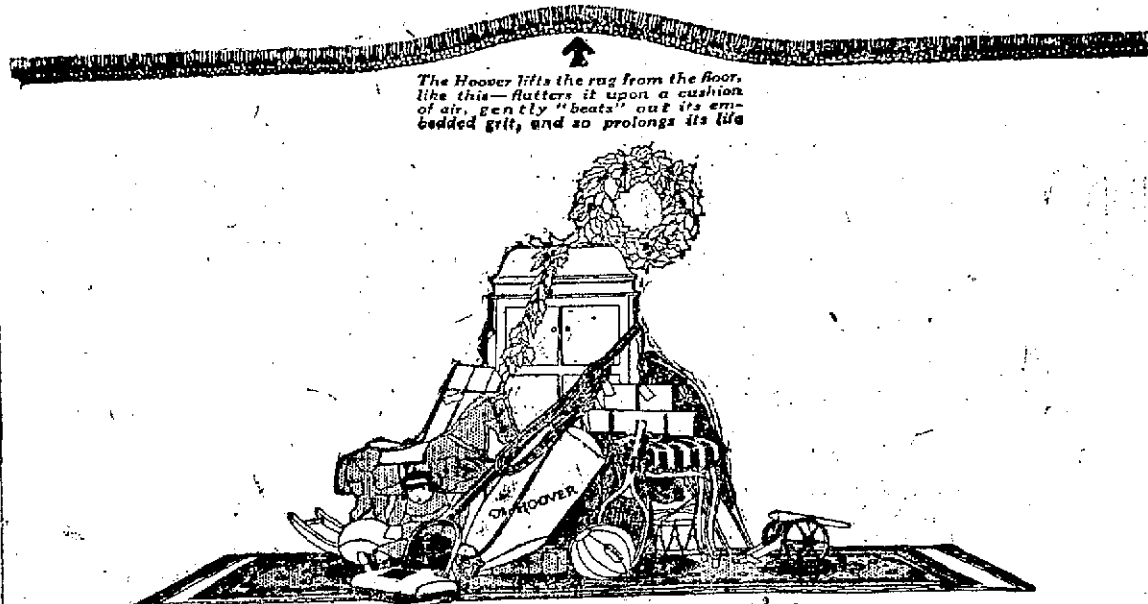

New York, Dec. 23.—Recipients of charity at the Bowery Mission, the east side "mother" to thousands buffeted by adversity, today proved that one touch of misfortune makes the whole world kin. The inmates of the institution, after being told of the plight of millions of children in Europe this Christmas, voted to adopt five "invisible" guests, by making up a purse of $50 and donating the money to the European relief council.

Athens Villagers to Give

King Golden Saddle

Athens, Dec. 23.—Constantine of Greece plans to visit the Greek army in Asia Minor on the Smyrna front within the next two weeks, provided he can obtain consent of the allies. It is pointed out that the late king Alexander was given permission to go to Asia Minor by the allies, but his visit was unofficial, it is said. The people of Athens continue their celebration of the return of Constantine, strewing the streets with the leaves of palm trees and holding processions. Villagers near Athens are preparing to present Constantine with a golden cavalry saddle, the cost of which is estimated at $25,000.

Antigo.—R. J. Van Duser, 81 years old, of this city, is believed to be the oldest active carpenter in Wisconsin. He was injured some time ago while working at Benson, but expects to start work again soon. Van Duser is said to be an expert builder of refrigerators.

Joe Lynch Wins Bantam Title From Herman by Decision

OUTBOXES HERMAN THROUGHOUT BOUT BEFORE BIG MOB

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 23.—Pete Herman of New Orleans, who lost his title as world's bantamweight boxing champion last night to Joe Lynch of this city, was a passenger today on the steamship Imperator, sailing for England. He is expected to return to New Orleans, where he will fight Jimmie Wilde, English flyweight champion, for a 20 round bout in London.

New York, Dec. 23.—Joe Lynch, the sturdy New York bantam, became the new title holder of the division when he won a decision over Pete Herman in the New Orleans flash, in 15 rounds of lightning boxing in Madison Square Garden last night. Lynch got the decision from a majority of the judges and from the referee.

The bout was witnessed by a mob even larger than saw the Dempsey-Brennan fight, for the old guard, the new guard, and the bantamweight crowd were all present. Lynch and Herman weighed in under the stipulated weight of 113 pounds.

Lynch fought from his "lucky" corner and had the same corner when he defeated Young Sharkey, the tough New Englander, who was able to give Jimmie Wilde, the English marvel, a sound thrashing.

Lynch All the Way.
After the first round, in which both of the bantams were nervous, Lynch got under way. He made a daring dash and smash with which he won the title. Lynch forced Herman to all parts of the ring despite the attempt of Herman to play for the body. The New Yorker followed and kept beating Herman in the leads with short jabs, to be followed with a powerful punch. No time did it appear that Lynch had a chance to knock the former champion off his feet. Neither showed any marks from the 15 rounds of milling.

The new champion has been in the running for the title for three years. Greb Is Winner.
Boston—Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh challenger, won ten rounds of slashing boxing in his match with Captain Roper, the Chicago heavyweight, here last night. Greb, by settling a slugging pattern and leading the battle to Roper, took every round. At times he had the Chicago boxer helpless.

British Boxers Here.
New York.—The second contingent of English boxers arrived here from London yesterday to compete in the series of international bouts which are scheduled to take place here next month. The most of the British boxers had experience in the army or navy competitions.

The opponents of the Britishers, to be selected mostly from the American army and navy, have not been named. There will be try-outs among boxers to represent the U. S. A.

YOUNG SAYS BASEBALL CANNOT BE CROOKED

One thing has been brought out, says old Cy Young, and that is, you can't make baseball crooked. One player or half a dozen players can throw a game or two or three games—and then the whole world gets wise to it, no matter how clever the cheats may be in trying to cover up their dirty work. And Young goes on to make a remark that will strike home to every pitcher when he says: "I do not think a pitcher can throw even one game without falling under the suspicion of his catcher. If a catcher is honest he will know in a minute or two whether the pitcher is trying to win or not. Besides that the catcher will, or should, see every play made on the field, and if he is any kind of a catcher he can tell mighty quick if a player is trying to make a play or not."

FIGHT DECISIONS

At New York—Joe Lynch wins bantam title from Pete Herman (15).

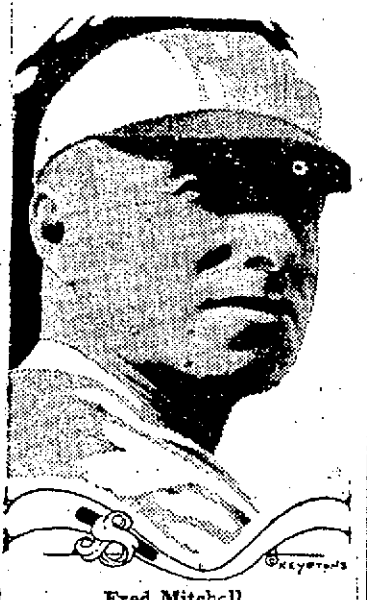

At Boston—Harry Greb beat Bob Roper (10).

At New York—Billy De Pae drew with Freddie Jacks (10); Johnnie Drummond beat Tony Ronchi (10); Frankie Jerome knocked out Frankie Currie (7); Bobby Lyons drew with Jacky Stern (10).

At Aurora, Ill.—Kid Herman drew with Freddie Black (10); Jack Perry knocked out Kid Keating (2); Joe Harrison knocked out Johnny Baynes (2); Kid Blume knocked out Kid Burns (4).

At Milwaukee—Johnny Madelsohn drew with Otto Wallace (10).

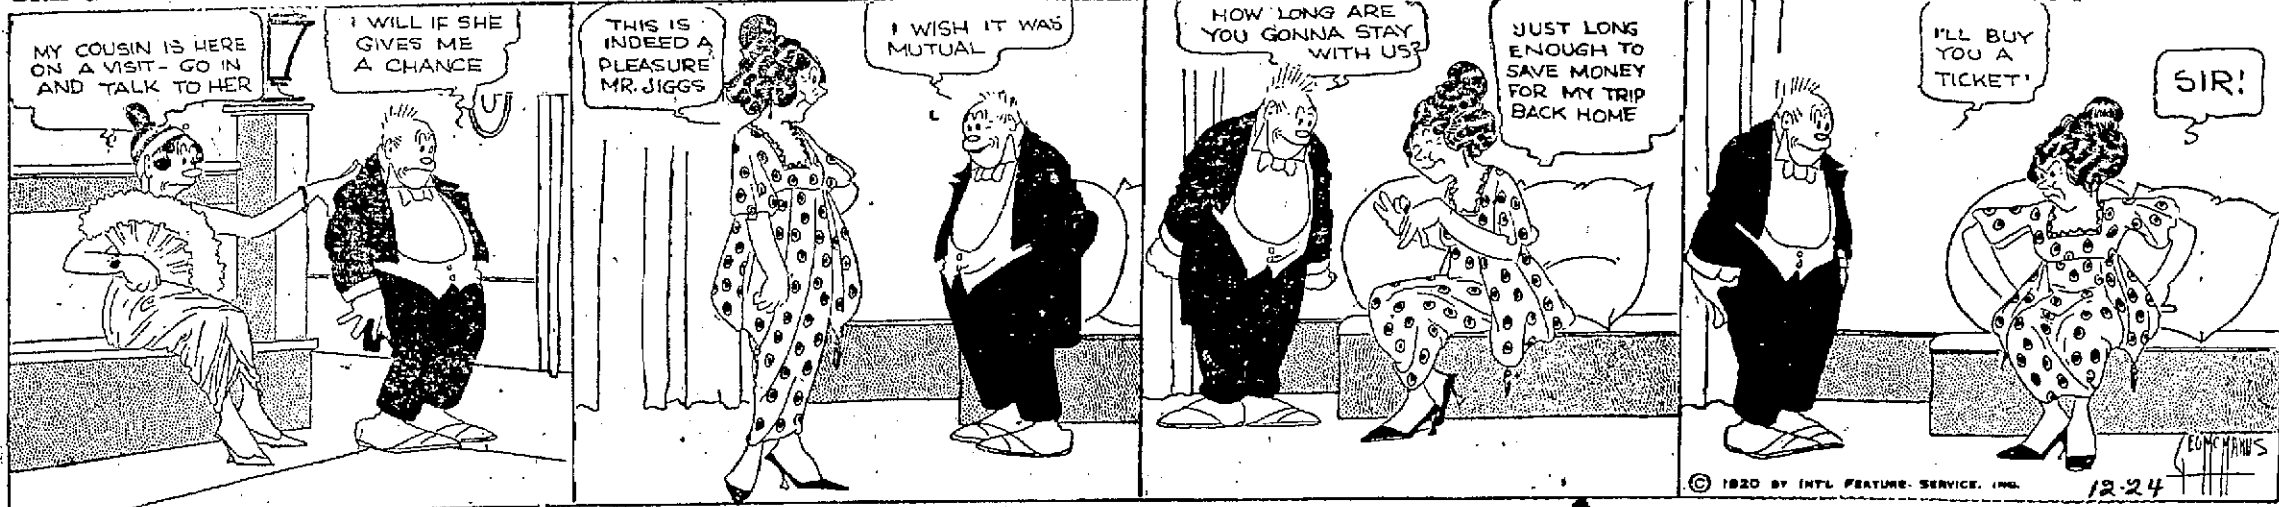

SIGNS TO PILOT BOSTON BRAVES

Fred Mitchell.

Fred Mitchell, let out as manager of the Chicago Cubs, has been signed to succeed George Stallings as pilot of the Boston Braves. Stallings resigned a short time ago after eight years at the helm. Boston fans are looking to Mitchell to pull the Braves out of the baseball rut in which they have been running since 1914.

OHIO TAKES FIRST PRACTICE IN WEST COAST TITLE TRIP

(By Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Dec. 23.—The Ohio State University football squad, in California to play the University of California eleven at Pasadena, on Tuesday, has begun a work-out this afternoon on the Leland Stanford University gridiron at Palo Alto.

This is the first extended practice for the western conference champions since they left Columbus. Meanwhile the California team, practice conference champions, spent at their practice with renewed vigor as the result yesterday of their first sight of their prospective opponents.

Are in Frisco.
The championship Ohio state team has arrived in the city of the Golden Gate and Barbary Coast enroute to Pasadena where they will meet the Pacific champs, the University of California. The team was welcomed by the governor of the Golden State, William Stephens, who they stopped over at Sacramento. From Berkeley they will enroute to Pasadena.

The Ohio State team is declared to be in splendid condition for the title game.

Native Sons Fast.
The California team is one of the strongest ever developed on the coast, having a heavy fast line with offensive strength to give the crack coast team a proper fight. The backfield is declared to be powerful in plunging and running and in the aerial end of the team.

Even High Schools.
The East Technical high school team of Cleveland, who claimed the championship of the central west, were today enroute to Pasadena. They will play the Pacific coast's strongest high team on New Year's day.

SPARS BEING MENTIONED

COACH FOR PURDUE ELEVEN
Boston, Dec. 23.—Failure of the Dartmouth athletic council to reappoint Clarence W. Spears of Chicago as football coach has been followed by the receipt of word here from N. A. Kellogg, athletic director of Purdue university, that Spears is being considered as coach there. Spears' contract with Dartmouth expired this fall.

BOSTON SOX BOSS DEMANDS JOHNSON QUIT LEAGUE JOB

New York, Dec. 23.—Characterizing as deliberate falsehoods statements credited to Ban Johnson relative to the election of directors of the American league, Harry M. Frazee, president of the Boston club, today in a letter to Mr. Johnson invited him to resign as president of the league, and declared there can be no peace while both remain in the American league.

The statements credited to Mr. Johnson and to which Mr. Frazee took exception were: "The league had always resorted to the building up of using the usual rotation method of the election of the board of directors when it was found the rotation method would bring an undesirable member to the board," and "it was the sentiment that two members be not brought into the directorate, as they attempted to wreck the American league."

Too Small for Both.
"I had hoped that you had learned something in the last two years," Mr. Frazee's letter continued, "and instead of using the usual rotation method of the election of the board of directors when it was found the rotation method would bring an undesirable member to the board," and "it was the sentiment that two members be not brought into the directorate, as they attempted to wreck the American league."

I want you to know that from this time on there can be no peace as far as I am concerned, while you and I remain in the American league.

Debate Differences.
"If you have any sense of justice or realization of the harm you have caused baseball, or had one spark of manhood, or any regard for the game which has made you possible, you would tender your resignation as president of the American league before causing any further harm."

If you wish to go into any discussion, either privately or publicly, or our relations since my connection with the American league in 1910, I will be pleased to meet you at any time or place you mention. But in the meantime, I strongly advise you to eliminate any further attacks upon the Boston American league baseball.

Ban Will Stick.
"There is nothing for me to say except that I haven't the slightest intention of resigning as president of the American league, despite Mr. Frazee's request," said Ban Johnson last night when shown this letter from New York saying that Harry Frazee had written the American league president a letter characterizing statements credited to him as deliberate falsehoods and demanding his resignation.

SPITTER WILL AGAIN BE FOUGHT ABOUT

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that the joint rules committee of the major leagues will take up the spitball question this winter. The present rule prohibits the use of the spitter in 1921, but some of the magnates believe that an amendment should be adopted to permit Covaleskie of the Cleveland Indians of the Brooklyn, Dock of the Cardinals, Douglas of the Giants and other moist ball pitchers to retain their effectiveness until they retire from fast company. The spitter is employed so infrequently that it looks like a hardship to deprive less than a dozen boxmen of a means of livelihood.

BADGERS TO PLAY SO. DAK. NEXT WEEK

Madison, Dec. 23.—The two basketball games between South Dakota state college and Wisconsin Wednesday and Thursday of next week were scheduled mainly for the purpose of giving Madison people a chance to see Coach Menzies' quintet in action, the athletic department has announced.

Student crowds that fill the gym during the season prevent all but a few outside the university from seeing the games. Students, furthermore, are willing to stand in line patiently waiting to secure tickets. Madison people haven't the time to do that. The athletic department, therefore, is giving them the opportunity to see two good games while the student population is away for the holidays.

The team returns Monday to get in shape for the contests with South Dakota. The latter school is represented by a strong quintet and won the state title last year.

The Cuddie's Version.

No one has lofter version for a man who sails under false colors than a caddie, and this is especially so abroad, as was shown by the incident where the goffer asked his bag totter who a certain player was, identifying the man by stating that he had a military swagger.

The lad sniffed once or twice in disdain, and then replied: "I don't rightly ken the man's name, but he's a Major or something—at least, he's not a real major, but he married the Major's widow and took the title."

I want you to know that from this time on there can be no peace as far as I am concerned, while you and I remain in the American league.

Debate Differences.

SPITTER WILL AGAIN BE FOUGHT ABOUT

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that the joint rules committee of the major leagues will take up the spitball question this winter. The present rule prohibits the use of the spitter in 1921, but some of the magnates believe that an amendment should be adopted to permit Covaleskie of the Cleveland Indians of the Brooklyn, Dock of the Cardinals, Douglas of the Giants and other moist ball pitchers to retain their effectiveness until they retire from fast company. The spitter is employed so infrequently that it looks like a hardship to deprive less than a dozen boxmen of a means of livelihood.

GARRITY HITS OUT .245 MARK FOR WASH.

Eddie Garrity, Beloit, first string catcher on the Washington Americans, batted .245 during the past season, according to records published for the junior circuit. He was placed 36th among the 167 players listed.

Playing in 131 games he was at bat 428 times and made 51 runs as a result of 105 hits for 138 bases. His long distance hitting is indicated by the 18 two-base clouts, three triples, and three times the Beloit big leaguer was able to meet the old apple hard enough to make the four base circuit dissatisfied.

In holding Garrity ranks 11th out of the nineteen catching. His average was .565, having 20 errors for the season.

Dunn on War Path.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 23.—Jack league is considering making a formal protest to Judge Landis, the Baltimore club of the International league protest to Judge Landis, the baseball commissioner, over what he claims are the efforts of certain major league owners to make his star players dissatisfied.

The Oriole leader asserts that several fake stories have been sent out lately in regard to trading Pitcher Jack Bentley and others of his best performers for players now in the big leagues. As Dunn puts it, these stories have the tendency to cause dissatisfaction in his ranks.

As a matter of fact, Bentley has just signed a contract with Baltimore covering the next two years.

LOCAL FANS TO SEE FAIRY-PACKERS WAR

Headed by "Motsey" Dalton, Janesville athlete, the Green Bay Packers basketball outfit were scheduled to go through the city today enroute to Beloit where tonight they will clash with the Fairies in the new Fairbanks-Morse factory gym. A delegation of Janesville fans will watch the war.

The Packers have Dalton and Wheeler at guards, Wegner at center, and Motsey and Wilson at forwards. Beloit will have the usual lineup of old men.

The Fairies have played two games and split even. Green Bay has won three games; two from Milwaukee semi-pro clubs, and one from the Case team of Racine.

WANT FRANK MORAN TO MEET GEORGES

If Georges Carpentier tackles Frank Moran the result of the battle should throw more light on the prowess of the Frenchman than his affair with Battling Levinsky. Moran was the man Carpentier should have fought instead of Levinsky. That match would have made a better drawing card and been far more satisfactory in other ways. Should Georges beat Moran in England it would add greatly to the interest in the proposed $1,000,000 battle for the world's championship with Jack Dempsey. In that case London would pay almost as much for the championship battle as New York, even if there were no opposition to it here.

BADGER HOPES ON WILLIAMS FOR SCORING

Madison, Wis., Dec. 23.—Four straight victories have been tallied up by the Badger quintet in their preliminary games, previous to the opening of the conference season against Northwestern January 3. The team is resting over Christmas but will start practice Monday to get in shape for the two games with South Dakota State college previous to the opening of school.

Menzies Not Satisfied.

Coach Menzies has declared himself as not satisfied with the showing of his men in their last two games. He says that he will devote his training to almost the inexperienced work, and basket shooting. Wisconsin was said to have fallen down in its playing during the Marquette game.

The short pass style of play requires greater team play, and more steady work than any other brand of basketball he pointed out. With the Badger quintet almost the inexperienced work, but two of its men who have played together previous to this year, the results have not been up to standard. After the men have played the quarter in their next two preliminary games, it is expected by the coach that they will be greatly improved, and can alter the conference season prepared for the more experienced opponents.

Williams In Hope.
Williams showed up to best advantage against Marquette University last Saturday, and has placed himself to the fore as the player on whom Wisconsin will place much of its hope of scoring. When Taylor and he have been placed together more, it was said that they will be a strong combination at forward. Frogner is definitely set as a regular center, according to indications, after he has played practically two full games without substitution. Coaker and Tobell are playing a guarding game that has kept opponents from running up big scores.

GERMANS BUILDING OWN MOTOR SPEEDWAY.
Because the Indianapolis Motor speedway would not permit German cars to be entered in its last race, the Germans have been spurred on to build their own auto race course at Hanover, Germany. It will have a five mile steel surfaced track, the first of its kind in the world. Most specially constructed speedways are of wood, the Indianapolis course being unique in that it is built of brick and concrete. Heretofore, Germany's auto racing prowess has been shown in the other fellow's ballkick.

Hanover Has Wonderful Museum Showing Relics of Rock County History

Old Curiosity Shop would be a correct name for the Hanover hall, for Charles Borkenlugin—a lifelong resident of the town of Plymouth—has here, there, in the hall, a collection of relics of Rock county from the days of the spinning wheel, the muzzle loading blunderbuss down to present relics of "bygone days" in the form of brocade and lace.

Is a Genius
Borkenlugin, by his genius with the knife, the lathe and mechanical appliances has fitted the hall with clocks, strange musical instruments, clocks, and wood carvings which make the hall an interesting museum. There are shells from Florida, bones used by the Indians, firearms used by the settlers in the Blackhawk war, clocks of brass and iron which are more than 100 years old and still run, old prints and art works. Along the walls of the hall are appliances showing remarkable inventive ability in making odd things run and work.

Wooden Images
The star features are the wooden images which by mechanical means can be made to play a violin, and another of a woman, to dance to the tune of a negro fiddler. They are like in size and well formed and painted faces. There are huge bass viols, violins and fiddles made out of boxes which produce excellent tones, and he has made up a contrivance which is made of horsehoes and from the spokes of a wagon.

There is a photograph which is operated by a cone, similar to the present market machines. It is built into a wooden clock.

Among the dozens of old clocks is one, a huge hall clock, brought overland from Pennsylvania by John Burrier, which has only one small gear in its work. The clock is made of wood. Although nearly 100 years old the instrument still chimes a pretty tune. There are several other clocks made by John Burrier, with queer inscriptions. One of the small clocks is 62 years old and was owned by Chris Reamer. Another was owned by George Hatten. One novel old timepiece was the wedding clock of Frank Detmer, an early settler on the fertile lands south of the town. It is a first sleighbell, owned in southern Wisconsin and on display. They were owned by Tom Van Alstein. There is a freak engine made of rabbit, built by Charles Legerman.

Band Instruments
Among the musical instruments are two huge band pieces used in the civil war, which were brought back and used for some time by the Bower City band. They were once the property of Sam Clemens of this city.

Then there is the chandelier from the first German church established in Janesville. The first railroad lantern. A spinning wheel used by the mother of Edward Eggen.

Among the firearms is a cross bow made by Borkenlugin, a hammerless shotgun in the shape of a cane, old Colt revolvers, horse pistols, and rifles.

If you want a glimpse of the early history of Rock county you will find it in the little hall in Hanover.

CHRISTMAS PARTY HELD IN FULTON

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Fulton—School closed Friday, Dec. 17, with a Christmas party for the children of the primary room, at which a number of mothers and friends were in attendance. The program consisted of songs, a dramatization of "Bad Peter," and some games by the first grade; "Elves and the Shoemaker," second grade; "A Christmas Carol," third grade; "Why the Christmas Chimes Ring," fourth grade; "Christmas With Scrooge and Bob Cratchit," fifth grade. Two original essays were read on "Madonna of the Chair," by Evelyn Murray and William Lee. After the program, gifts were distributed. Four primary classes had made gifts for the mothers during directed handwork periods. Everyone then participated in a peanut hunt.

In the Church
The Fulton Congregational church gave a special Christmas service Sunday, Dec. 19. After the prelude on the organ by Miss S. Raymond and doxology and invocation by the Rev. J. C. Carpenter, the choir sang "Praise Ye the Father." The program follows: Hymn, by congregation; text by the Rev. Mr. Carpenter; offertory solo, "Wonderful Love," Mrs. J. P. Corpe; "Christmas Message," sermon by Rev. Mr. Corpe. Following this the choir sang "There were Shepherds by the Stable," the congregation closed the services.

Sunday School

The Sunday school holds its annual Christmas tree and carol service on Friday evening, Dec. 24. The carol service will be given by Santa Claus; Esther Seefeld as rooster; her daughters and sons, Evelyn Murray, Janet Peterson, Marie Neslund, and Howard Lee. Fairies as Ke. Ingh, and Lillian Peterson, Lucile and Estelle Peterson, Ellen Jessen, and Lillian Peterson. The story is that the children decide to wait for Santa, the fairies come to aid him and discover that the children also assist, and then all become Christmas messengers. The climax of the production is in the several musical numbers, the first being assisted by a chorus of Sunday school pupils.

DEMOCRATS TURN TURTLE ON TARIFF

Attitude Toward Emergency Farm Relief Bill Is Significant.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 28.—Abnormal economic conditions are producing abnormal political divisions everywhere. The attitude of the democrats toward the emergency tariff bill about to be passed by the house of representatives is the most significant thing that has happened since the political upheaval which the country experienced at the polls last November.

Traditionally, canvassing the democrats in the house, the leaders found, a few days ago that about two-thirds of them were getting ready to vote for the Fordney tariff bill, and this too in spite of the fact that the wool schedule is much higher than the famous schedule K which Frankford finally admitted was "indefensible."

Affair of Farmers

Democratic leaders began to reason with their brethren and found out that fear of the farmers and the cattle raisers was at the bottom of the protectionist feeling of the democrats who were not afraid of republican opposition but the prospect of vote for the democrats might arise in the next primaries to contest their seats. "The democratic leaders found that the democratic rank and file had been persuaded to believe that they would not be held to task by low tariff, democratic commitments for voting for an emergency measure. The heart of the conference was a considerable return to the original democratic position on the tariff, and there will not be as many democrats for the Fordney bill as it seemed at first. The vote will be surprising."

Leaders See Inconsistency

The contention of the democratic leaders is that if a democrat votes for the principle of protection in an emergency measure he will find it difficult to oppose the tariff measures which the republicans will unquestionably offer as a permanent policy.

inland lakes. The team was awarded first, Loyal second, Wisconsin Rapids third, Marshfield fourth, and Neillsville fifth. The local team including Harold Krause, Harvey Toupas and Gilman Coombs.

Underwood Expected Back

Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, who knows the tariff question from "a" to "z," because of the part he played in framing the present tariff laws which were passed by congress, is expected back here in a day or two, and will consult with Senator Simmons and other democratic leaders concerning a party policy. Moreover, the democratic ranks in congress, which show signs every now and then of going to pieces on party policies, are apt to be strengthened when the party conference have been held after the first of the year. The whole tariff effort in the present session is regarded by many democrats as a shrewd effort on the part of republicans like Senator Warren of Wyoming, who represents a cattle raising state, to lay the foundation for a high tariff in the extra session of congress, figuring that even President Harding will not be able to oppose the imposition of tariff duties that have already passed a congress in which republican majorities are slender compared with the overwhelming strength of the new congress.

LANDSCAPE DESIGN CLASS ORGANIZED

10 Enroll in Course of 10 Lectures Here by U. of W. Professor.

A more beautiful Janesville is the object of a special course of illustrated lectures on landscape architecture, art and design to be given here during the coming three months by Prof. Frank A. Aust, of the University of Wisconsin. Initial arrangements for the course were completed at the city yesterday by William M. Dertke, chief organizer of the university extension division. Although 40 have been enrolled in the class, about 20 or 30 more can be accommodated. A registration fee of $5 is the only expense in taking the course.

The course consists of a series of 10 lectures, the first one to be given Monday evening, January 3, to continue through 10 consecutive evenings. The science room at the local high school, especially equipped for illustrated classes, has been selected as a classroom. John Arbuthnot, science instructor at high school, will assist by operating the stereopticon machine.

Forster Is President.

George S. Forster has been appointed president of the class and secretary, Mrs. John A. Walker has been secured through the efforts of the Janesville Garden club, which sent a petition to the university asking for the course. Following up the work of an expert city planning which has been started here.

The lectures are designed to give Janesville its first hand information on landscape architecture, art and design for practical use and artistic appreciation in actual landscape planning. Following are the lecture topics in the order they will be given:

"Landscape Design—A Fine Art," "History and Development of Landscape Design," "Theory of Landscape Design," "Types of Landscape Design," "Landscape Design in Relation to the City Plan," "Designing the Home Ground Plan," "Practical Problems," "Designing the Home Ground Plan," "Landscape Plans, Lists and Methods for Grounds and Gardens." The last session will be devoted to a general discussion of landscape design.

Special features will include the showing of 500 stereopticon pictures, more than 500 of which are hand-colored, numerous illustrations of notable gardens of America and Europe; aerial views of American and European cities as a factor in the solution of social problems; and sketch plans, designs and planting plans of home grounds.

Professor Aust, who has lectured on landscape design since 1915, has been in charge of all such work at the state university. He graduated from Minnesota university in 1900 and took a course in landscape design in Michigan university, following this with a year's tour studying landscape design in Europe and the United States. From 1915 to 1916 he was lecturer at the University of Illinois.

His extensive work has brought him in contact with a great variety of problems such as school grounds, as well as the solution of social problems, community center problems and roadside planting, parks and playground design, and home grounds and farmstead plans. All planning and design work of the university campus is under his direction. During the summer of 1919 he was consultant in the development of a city and park plan.

As a lecturer, Mr. Aust is well-known, having appeared in the program of the Chicago Art Institute, Minneapolis School of Fine Arts, State Federation of Women's Clubs of Illinois, Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin, and the State Real Estate Brokers' association. In connection with his University duties, he is secretary of The Friends of Our Native Landscape.

TO HOLD SERIES OF FARM INSTITUTES

Three Are Planned in County for January—One in Milton Junction.

With a wide variety of farm topics on the program, there will be a series of farmers' institutes to be held in Rock county during January. Dates have been set for three and it is understood that one is being planned by the Beloit Chamber of Commerce.

The holding of a combined institute and farmers' display is urged to be held in the city of Janesville as a means of acquainting the city interest with the present problems of the farmer.

First Near Beloit.

The first institute scheduled will be held on Jan. 4 and 5 by the Rural Advancement club of Beloit, Newark and Plymouth townships in the Smith school building, near Beloit. The second will be held in Clinton township in Beloit on Jan. 5 and 7. One of the largest will be held in Milton Junction on Jan. 18 and 19.

E. L. Luther of the university department of agriculture will have charge of the programs for Rock county. The farmers' institute, it is pointed out, is the common meeting place of the farmer.

Every part of the state will be covered and problems from the soil to practical co-operation and marketing will be discussed.

Skilled Speakers.

Besides having its own corps of practical and successful farmer speakers, there will be representatives from the college of agriculture, the highway commission, and other state departments. Helpful information and suggestions, it is held, will come from these agencies. The state men will make a drive to encourage the farmers, intending to offer solutions to prevent the agricultural depression.

It will be a common study to meet the new conditions.

List of Speakers.

OVER HALF OF CROP OF POTATOES STILL IN PRODUCERS' HANDS

Of Wisconsin's 1920 commercial potato crop of 25,000 cars, 67 per cent, or 17,400 cars, was still in the hands of farmers on Dec. 1. A year ago 33 per cent of the commercial crop of 22,000 cars, or 8,500 cars, was still in the hands of farmers.

Completed tabulation of railroad statistics shows that shipments of the 1919 crop from Wisconsin stations totaled 22,000 cars, compared to 25,709 in 1918. The forecast of the 1919 crop made by this service in October, 1919, was 29,000 cars. Because of high prices prevailing, stock were sold out more closely than for many years and shipments continued until late in June.

The percentage of the crop lost after harvest through freezing, rot and other causes was 2.8 per cent in 1919, compared with 5.3 per cent for the 1918 crop. The percentage of the planted acreage which was not dug is small—64 per cent, compared to 1.7 per cent a year ago.

The final estimate on commercial apple production in Wisconsin shows no change from the November estimate. It is estimated that 74 per cent of a full crop, or 150,000 barrels, was produced, compared to 126,000 barrels last year and 114,000 the previous year.

It is estimated that 20 per cent of the crop is still in the hands of growers, compared to 23 per cent on the first of November. Movement to market has been very restricted since that time.

It is estimated that of the entire crop sold 21 per cent was sold in barrels, 18 per cent in boxes, 37 per cent in bulk, and 24 per cent in the form of cider, dried apples, and such.

Antique.—The Langdon county grand jury, called to investigate violations of the liquor laws, has adjourned until Dec. 27 to permit business men on the jury to attend to their holiday trade. More arrests are expected when the jury reconvenes.

Don't wait for your happiness until others hand it to you on a silver platter.

BATTLE LOOMS IN TOBACCO CIRCLES

Few Bids of 20 Cents Offered—Farmers Will Seek More.

Rock county tobacco raisers are waiting for offers on the 1920 crop, which has been ready for the market delivery for the past week. Except for farmers who sold to early buyers in the field, there has been only limited buying or offers throughout the county.

That there will be a rub between the offers and what the farmers want is certain.

Prices Wanted.

Producers point out that they must have between 25 and 35 cents, depending on quality, to make a profit, considering that they paid as high as $10 a day for labor to plant and harvest the crop. The few bids that have been offered are mostly 20 cents for binders and 5 cents for fillers. In the town of Harmony the farmers are asking 30 cents for binders and 15 cents for fillers.

Much depends on the action of the big buyers representing the larger dealers in Wisconsin tobacco. Their buying agents have not put in an appearance and until that time, it is explained, all other buyers are holding off. A few crops in Magnolia have been sold.

The crop this year is claimed by growers to be exceptional in quality. The recent weather has been ideal for final work. The dampness allowed the stripping and curing without danger of tearing the leaves. Since the crop is so good in condition and was produced under high production prices the most of the producers will seek more than 20 cents.

Few Deliveries.

Further investigation of the quality of tobacco in this section of the state develops that the weed grown along the Milton Junction road, contrary to previous reports, is a good crop.

COAL SHIPMENTS HIT HIGH MARK

Receipts of coal here during the past nine days hit one of the high marks of the winter season when 26 carloads came in over the rails of both the C. M. & St. P. and the C. & N. W. This is a total of 3350 tons.

Soft coal continues to hold the upper hand, but more than usual of the anthracite was received. The amount of bituminous jumped to the new pinnacle of 8 carloads, or about 2700 tons. Hard shot to a total of 34 cars or 1350 tons.

Lumber and other building materials took a little spurt during the week. About a dozen carloads of building wood reached here, while some shingles, slate and brick were noted. All other shipping continued in the downward slump that started with the first nationwide business depression.

Out going shipments are practically dead. It is about the only thing that is moving and with the arrival of cold weather that is slowing down.

In Cross.—Judge Hendley, in county court, will be asked Dec. 23 to decide whether residents of the public of Czechoslovakia are enemy aliens. On the decision depends the settlement of an estate near Bangor. If he decides that Joseph Albrecht and Josephine Irix, residents of Czechoslovakia, live in an enemy country, the government will get the $1,000 in cash and real estate valued at $1,000, left by Mrs. Clara Kerkbeck. If he rules otherwise, the estate will go to these two heirs.

Interstate Rail Rates Ordered in Arkansas

Washington, Dec. 23.—Passenger and excess baggage rates in the state of Arkansas as recently fixed by the state commission were held to be discriminatory by the interstate commerce commission, which ordered into immediate effect tariffs corresponding to those charged in interstate commerce. Arkansas is one of the 17 states which refused to allow increases in state rates equal to those granted by the commission last August on interstate business.

MADISON BANKERS REST EASIER WHEN BIG YARN EXPLODES

Madison is resting easier today following a complete explosion of the story about a supposed $50,000 bank robbery in Janesville. Bankers of the capital city went home early last night to make up for sleep they lost the night before when their long periods of wakeful worry were punctuated by dreams of masked bandits and horse pistols.

Officials of the Merchants & Savings bank here—the "victim" of the "daring robbery" were interrupted a score of times yesterday by long distance calls and were kept busy denying the story. The police department received several calls, one of them from Monroe: "What is there to that bank robbery yarn in Janesville?" to which Desk Sgt. Harvey Jones replied emphatically: "Absolutely nothing."

Police Chief Thomas Morrissey talked with Chief Slaughterhouse of Madison over the phone yesterday afternoon, calling him to ask how the fake story got started.

"It was rumored all around town," answered Slaughterhouse.

"You know if there was anything to it we would have notified you immediately, didn't you?" queried Morrissey.

"Sure," came the reply. "We didn't take much stock in it."

"There'd be a stampede down here if we ever had such a robbery," stated the chief.
